CURIOUS WILL CASE.

A Will Sought to be Broken on the Ground that Is was Dictated by a Spirit.

BATH, ME, Monday, December 28 1868.—The long case of Mariana Robin son, appellant from decree of Judge of Probate vs. Adams et al., executors, came to an end just in season for court, jury and counsel to enjoy Uhristmas at ome. The case probably has excited more laterest here than any one sloce that of the Bowdeinham Back robbers t grew out of an effortion the part of an only daughter to set aside the will of her mother, allowing her during life $500 a year, and the same to her children and her. The appellant, herself an only daughter, has an only daughter some ten years of age. The estate was some $19. 000 or $20,000 and in a certain contingency is to go to collateral helm. The estate was tied up with the avowed purpose of keeping it entirely out of the hands of the daughter's husband, Schiedam Schnapps.
